Sixty-Ninth Senate Adjourns Sine Die

NOMINATIONS CONFIRMED IN FINAL SESSION

John Sargent Takes Oath of Office As New Attorney General Of U. S.

BULLETIN
WASHINGTON, March 18.—The Sixty-ninth Senate adjourned this afternoon at 4:30 p. m., following a 14-day special session, sensationally crammed with political pyrotechnics. Featuring the two-weeks' session was the almost unprecedented rejection of a presidential cabinet nomination—Charles B. Warren of Detroit, to be attorney-general, twice submitted and twice voted down.

WASHINGTON, March 18.—President Coolidge sent to the Senate ready for its consideration when it convened at noon today, a large batch of nominations for officials in the federal judiciary, the diplomatic corps, the treasury department and the Federal Trade commission.

The nominations were referred to committees immediately and action was to be taken on all of them during the afternoon, after which the sixty-ninth Senate will adjourn until next December.

John G. Sargent, the lanky Vermont lawyer, whom President Coolidge selected as attorney-general after the Senate had twice rejected Charles B. Warren, took the oath of office at 2 o'clock here this afternoon.

President Coolidge lost another round in the Senate this afternoon when administration leaders abandoned their efforts to secure confirmation of the appointment

Line Unable To Meet
Retiring Bonds

CHICAGO, March 18.—Receivers for the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad were named in federal court here today on a petition which stated that the company will be unable to make provisions for retiring bonds to the extent of $47,000,000 maturing June 1 or to meet interest payments of $969,502.50, due April 1.

The petition also states that there is "grave danger bond holders will force their claims by suits or attachments, that the company will not meet its floating indebtedness and that a multiplicity of actions will be filed against it."

Receivers Named
The receivers appointed were: H. E. Byram, president of the road; Mark W. Potter and Edward J. Brundage.

Bond for each was fixed at $50,000.

Pastor Urges Birth Control For Welfare

BERKELEY, March 18.—Birth control, conservatively practiced, is necessary for the economic welfare of many American families, the Rev. Albert Ehrhardt, Berkeley Baptist minister, today asserted in a farewell message to his congregation as he left with his bride of twenty-four hours for a world tour to study marriage conditions. The minister was married to Miss Mabel Helen De Witt, Berkeley Bible student, last night.

White House Greets Bryan And Brother

WASHINGTON, March 18.—The Bryan brothers, William Jennings and Charles W., were received by President Coolidge at the White House today.

They arrived with a delegation from the council of the Presbyterian church and joined other visitors in shaking hands with the president at 1 o'clock.

Later they went to the rear of the White House and had their photographs taken with Mr. Coolidge.

SHEPHERD AND DOCTOR ARE INDICTED

McClintock Fortune Heir And University Head Face Murder Charge

By CARL W. HARRIS
For International News Service.

CHICAGO, March 18.—The formal indictments charging William D. Shepherd and Dr. Charles C. Faiman with murder, in connection with the death of William Nelson McClintock, last blood heir to the McClintock fortune, were returned in criminal court here today.

More than three hours before the expiration of the "truce," the state's promise to Shepherd's attorneys—indictment or freedom for their client by 2 p. m. today—had been fulfilled. The writ of habeas corpus, which had been held temporarily in abeyance by Shepherd's counsel, automatically became a scrap of paper. And the man whom it was to have freed from "unlawful custody" began life behind prison bars awaiting the promised legal sensation—the trial.

The state's next step will be preparation for what Crowe predicts will be one of the most sensational criminal trials in recent history—a trial which he believed will eclipse the battle for the lives of Nathan F. Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb, slayers of Robert F. Kennedy.

HOPE ABANDONED FOR MINING MEN

Thirty-Four Miners' Lives
Despaired Of While
Rescuers Work

FAIRMONT, W. Va., March 18.—None of the thirty-four miners imprisoned by a blast in Mine 41 of the Bethlehem Mines corporation at Barrackville, near here, will be found alive, according to leaders in the rescue work today.

Burrowing their way through the debris and hampered by falls of rock and lack of ventilation, the rescue squad of 25 men will not reach the entombed miners until noon, or later, those in charge said.

The rescue work was got well in hand by H. M. Lambie, chief of the state mine department and efforts to reach the imprisoned miners were proceeding smoothly and with all possible rapidity.

The shaft is 303 feet deep and the workings cover many miles under the hills. Throughout the night while rescue efforts were being made scores of women and children crowded around the mouth of the mine awaiting word from the entombed miners.

Hope Revived

BARRACKVILLE, W. Va., March 18.—Hopes were revived for the lives of the thirty-four men entombed since late last night by an explosion in the mine here of the Bethlehem Mines and Steel corporation this afternoon when mine rescue officials joined in denying the false reports which were widely circulated here and sent out by newspaper correspondents that two of the men had been found dead near the foot of the mine shaft.

HIGHWAY FUND SPENT, SAYS GOVERNOR

State Faces Serious Problem
On Roads, Richardson
Tells Legislators

By GIL A. COWAN
Special to the Evening News.
For Southland News Service

SACRAMENTO, March 18.—On the eve of a public hearing on the increased gasoline tax, scheduled for Thursday night in the Senate, Governor Richardson, speaking at a Sacramento Chamber of Commerce dinner for legislators, said:

"The state now faces a serious problem. Its road money has run out. Funds for new construction must be provided. I am not here advocating any particular method for raising this money, but this Legislature is faced with the problem of going ahead with highway construction. If you believe new highways should be built it is your duty to provide the money. There are three ways in which this may be done:

"First—By an increased gasoline tax.

"Second—By a bond issue to be submitted to the people.

"Third—By an ad valorem tax on all property.

"The various members of the Legislature," the governor added, "ought to find out how the people of your districts stand on this road problem. If you think, and are backed by your constituents, that there should be no new construction for two years, all right. But don't be deluded by the assurance that there is money for new construction. If you want new highways the means must be provided."

It is apparent the governor refuted the claim of oil companies that there is money available to continue highway construction. Also, it is known that a bond issue cannot be voted and sold for two years. The governor is known to oppose any ad valorem tax. Although he advocated no method, he has made it plain that the administration is backing the highway commission in seeking an increase in the gasoline tax, it is today pointed out by advocates of the 3-cent per gallon levy.

TITANS OF MONEY WORLD CLASH Andrew Mellon versus James Couzens WAR OF DOLLARS, DEADLY HATE

Endeavor to Drive Each Other Out of Office In Public Quarrel

By ROBERT T. SMALL
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News. Copyright, 1925

WASHINGTON, March 18.—When two multi-millionaires, two titans of the money world, fall out, has the man in the street got a chance? It is generally agreed here in Washington that he has not. Nevertheless, the spectacle of the Kilkenny affair between the two money-bags may cause some merriment to the down-trodden general public, provided it does not cause real alarm and a disposition on the part of the salary-worker to throw up his hands and mutter: "What is the use?"

When the average man, who suffers excruciating agony and no little hardship as he hands out his several hundred dollars a year to the government in income tax, hears it blazoned forth from the Senate rostrum that a corporation was relieved of something like $7,000,000 in taxes because it felt itself too poor to pay, and when it is further stated that the treasury is under the impression that a senator has underpaid his taxes by something like $11,000,000; when he hears all that, it must be admitted that it is rather disconcerting.

Men of Huge Wealth on Battle Line

But to understand the tremendous money row which promises to engross Washington long after the Warren controversy has run its course one must also understand the personalities involved. "Jim" Couzens, Republican senator from Michigan, is the richest man in the senate today, and one of the richest of all time. Possibly the late Senator W. A. Clark, copper king of Montana had a dollar or two more, but not much.

Andrew Mellon, Republican secretary of the treasury is unquestionably the richest man who ever held a government office. Some persons have estimated his wealth as high as $50,000,000 to $80,000,000. In any event, after all the deductions a rich man is entitled to, Mr. Mellon paid last year an income tax of well over a million dollars. His salary from the government was $12,000, which scarcely could be rated as other than chicken feed in the Mellon menage.

These are the two men of millions who are locked today in what their friends say is a life and death struggle. Jim Couzens, a man with a fighting face, who has come from poverty to Aladdin-like affluence in the space of a generation, has sworn to drive Andrew Mellon, second or third richest man in the United States, out of public office. Mellon has vowed to drive Couzens from the Senate.

They Hate Each Other, Says Senator

"These men hate each other," exclaimed Senator Carter Glass of Virginia, in viewing the battle from a far. "They will go to any extreme to discredit each other. In fact, they already have."

Jim Couzens is known to all of his friends as a fighter. He has the face of a battler, clean shaved, clean cut, eyes that snap but do not sparkle, cold gray hair, very sparse over the temples—a face which seems never to have known the lines of a lasting smile. Life has been grim to Jim. Even untold riches have not brought him surcease of struggle. He is out of business, but he declares he goes to show up all the "rottenness" in business. Including the supervision of business by certain departments or bureaus of the government. Jim has just been elevated for another six year term in the senate. His colleagues and his enemies know it will not be an idle term.

The story of Jim Couzens is the romance of the Oliver. He put $1,000 in the Ford Motor Co. He had to borrow $100 of this from an aunt. When he sold out his holdings in 1919 he paid the aunt the $100 and $600,000 in interest and earnings on the same. Altogether Jim's $1,000 of 1903 was translated sixteen years later into $33,000,000—cash. Investments made along the way to fortune—investments in banks and real estate and various industrial enterprises—probably have brought the Couzens wealth up to $50,000,000.

Fortune Is Invested in Bond Issues

Personally he has no idea what the figure is. He has a confidential secretary out in Michigan who looks after all the finances of the Couzens family. All that Senator Jim wants to know is that there is money in bank to meet any of the modest checks he draws from Washington.

The Couzens fortune is invested almost wholly in state and city bonds. He once sold bonds when he was mayor of Detroit. Now he buys them. State and city bonds are tax-exempt. This seems to have riled Mr. Secretary Mellon. And thereby hangs about nine-tenths of the tale that has become so heated as to induce senators to call names and almost hurl bottles.

But more of Mr. Couzens later.

SCRIBLED 'CURSE' TO SOLVE MURDER

L. A. Druggist Found Slain
In Store; Note Gives
Clue To Slayer

LOS ANGELES, March 18.—An ominous curse, scribbled on a crumpled bit of paper, was the police clue today with which they hope to uncover the slayers of Henry G. Voekell, 55, druggist, who was beaten and murdered in his drug store in Central avenue last night.

The curse "This, you fool, is for you who steal this money," is said to have been written on a bit of paper wrapped around a packet of bills, which the druggist kept in a nook in his store. The officers found the note that had been around the money and a finger print of the robber.

SOUTHLAND WAITS GAS PRICE SLUMP

General Reduction Expected
By Major Companies
After Conference

LOS ANGELES, March 18.—Announcement of a general reduction in the price of gasoline throughout Southern California was anticipated today following a conference of oil men last night, at which no agreement could be reached regarding the use of special discount coupon books.

It is believed several of the larger oil companies will announce a reduction of from one to two cents per gallon immediately, as the Gilmore Oil Co. followed the action of the Richfield company and has reduced the price of its gasoline one cent a gallon.

Elimination of Partisanship In Considering Tax Question Is Plea by Secretary Mellon

RICHMOND, Va., March 18.—Secretary Mellon and Under Secretary Winston of the treasury, speaking here last night, appealed to the country to eliminate partisanship in consideration of tax questions.

Mr. Mellon said he believes the American people were rapidly coming to a full appreciation of the importance of the subject of taxation as considered aside from party politics.

Turning to the relationship between federal and state tax questions, Mr. Mellon declared the mounting costs of government in states and municipalities had developed the necessity for reapportionment of the fields of tax sources between the federal and state governments.

"The efforts of two governments to tap the same source of revenue in inheritance taxes," the secretary continued, "has resulted in overlapping systems which impose undue burdens on the taxpayer and a consequent destruction of the very sources of revenue which mean comparatively little to the federal treasury, but much to the state."

"An unintelligent use of the taxing power may have disastrous consequences. It is for this reason that we must come to some understanding, particularly as regards high surtaxes and in the field of inheritance taxes, by which overlapping and unfair taxes shall be eliminated and the future welfare and prosperity of the country shall be assured."

POISON HINTED IN WAR HERO DEATH

Sam Dreben's Vital Organs
To Be Examined; Inquest
Ordered Today

LOS ANGELES, March 18.—A coroner's inquest, scheduled for today, will seek to determine the cause of the death of Sam Dreben, internationally-known soldier of fortune and American World War hero, who died here last Sunday. Dreben's funeral on Monday was suddenly halted when Dr. Walter Brem refused to sign the death certificate and an investigation was ordered.

A report rendered yesterday by County Surgeon A. F. Wagner stated that the soldier came to his death as the result of some poisonous serum that probably had been administered to him in error.

At the time of the inquest County Chemist Walker will also render a report of his findings following an examination of Dreben's vital organs.

AGRICULTURE DEPARTMENT TO MAKE PROBE

Sec. Jardine Orders Action
Under Law To Prevent
Price Manipulation

WASHINGTON, March 18.—An immediate investigation of recent wide fluctuations in prices of wheat and other grains on the exchanges of the country was ordered today by Secretary of Agriculture Jardine.

The inquiry will be made by the department of agriculture under the authority of the act designed to prevent market gambling and manipulation of prices.

The following announcement was made at the department of agriculture:

"Due to the concern of the United States department of agriculture in the recent fluctuations on future grain markets, particularly in the price of wheat, and in response to numerous inquiries which have been made by various branches of the grain industry, Secretary of Agriculture Jardine announced today that directions had been issued to the grain futures administration to make a full and immediate investigation and careful study of the situation which has existed on grain future exchanges during the last few days."

Wheat Takes Jump On Chicago Exchange Today

CHICAGO, March 18.—Grains today rebounded sensationally from yesterday's low points and within an hour wheat was selling 4 to 10 cents a bushel higher than yesterday in the Chicago pits. Other grains were proportionately higher.

The rise was as rapid as the dizzy decline and it was accompanied by an equal amount of furious trading.

A general belief that prices had hit rock bottom and an increase in the price of wheat in the grain market at Liverpool were the reasons assigned for today's jump.

Girl Struck By Golf Club Sues Father

CATHOLIC CHURCH IS ASSURED AT ATWATER

Bishop J. J. Cantwell Makes Inquiries Regarding Sites for Edifice in District; May Get School

Establishment of a new Catholic parish and erection of a church building in the Atwater district were promised today when representatives of Bishop J. J. Cantwell of the diocese of Los Angeles and San Diego made calls upon a number of representative Catholic families of the district and made inquiries as to possible sites for the location of a church.

For several years Catholics of South Glendale, Atwater Park and sections of Los Angeles in the immediate vicinity have sought from time to time to secure the establishment of a new parish in the district but until the present without apparent success. There is no church of the Catholic denomination within several miles of the boundaries of the Atwater district, Glendale being the closest place of worship at the present time. Plans now under consideration by Bishop Cantwell contemplate the building of a church, parish house and eventually a parochial school, it was said.

Split Is Threatened

"Unless the Atwater Community Improvement association recedes from its protest against the proposed school site on the north side of the tract and discontinues its efforts to dictate the kind of electric light standards to be installed on streets lying north of Glendale boulevard, there will be further stormy meetings, other startling disclosures and a probable split in the association," this was the written notice served on officers of the community association by a large group of property owners on the north side of the tract today.

"Property owners on the north side, being in the minority, believe they have no voice in the affairs of the association and that their affairs are dominated and progress is retarded," the protest states.

The controversy is the outgrowth of the meeting of the improvement body Monday night at the Atwater Baptist church when charges flew fast and thick during arguments over the kind of street light standards to be installed on a number of streets now without lights and a resolution was offered pledging the association to support of a new school to be located north of Glendale boulevard. The association refused to pass the resolution on the school and officers announced yesterday that efforts to have Union Metal Light petitions thrown out and requests for Marblette posts substituted would be continued.

ECONOMY IS PLEA BY FRANK BOOTH

Writes His Opinions To State's Chief Executive And Receives Reply

Frank Booth of 111 South Kenwood street, recently wrote a letter to Governor Richardson concerning the governor's economy program, and in reply received a letter of appreciation.

The letter from Mr. Booth to the governor follows:

"I am quite in accord with your recommendation for economy both in state and also our country. As evinced by our President Coolidge one of our biggest expenses in our tax bills are our school systems. Cannot something be done to cut down our school expenditures? Bonds calling for $2,400,000 were just recently defeated here in Glendale; no specifications whatever were given what the amount was to be used for. Sports, such as football, baseball, basketball, lawn tennis and theatricals enter largely into school hours and cost the taxpayers considerable sums of money outside of education. I am in favor of all the education our children can get, but I don't think the taxpayer should pay for athletics. The two items should be separated.

Fears Commercialism

"Also our schools are getting commercialized now by running cafeterias, candy, other supplies in opposition to the tradesman, who contributes his quota for school upkeep in taxation, then has this competition to face in the school system. I am given to understand that there are over sixty private shower baths in the new union high school in Glendale. I think it's up to the people to call a halt on such expenditures. It's becoming a common expression amongst poor people that they will soon have to sell their property to enable them to pay their taxes."

Governor's Answer

Governor Richardson's reply to Mr. Booth's letter is herewith printed:

"I have your kind letter and want to thank you for your letter of approval. It is good to know that we have staunch taxpayers like yourself who really stand for economy and back up officials who are trying to prevent the expenditure of public funds."

Sewage Disposal Plan Suggested to Chamber

Extension of Glendale sewage disposal service to Casa Verdugo, the main stipulation made by residents of that section if they are to annex to the city of Glendale, can be accomplished, according to a report rendered to the Chamber of Commerce directors last night. Permission to add the sewage of the Casa Verdugo section to the waste that will be carried from Glendale through the Los Angeles outfall system will in all probability be granted at a scheduled conference between City Manager Virgil B. Stone, and members of the Glendale and Los Angeles city councils, it was stated. This removal of the big stumblingblock in the way of annexation, it was pointed out, the outlook of Casa Verdugo becoming part of the city is good. Necessary preliminary legal proceedings are now being attended to by City Manager Stone, it was stated.

COMMENT by GIL A. COWAN

Glendale's automobile show and air rodeo have given the fastest growing city in America publicity throughout the state. The success of the auto show has stirred other communities to hold similar events, the writer knows, while fliers throughout the state are talking about the progressiveness of Glendale in staging a meet to prove the practicability of commercial aviation.

You and I will likely live to see the day when legislators at the capital will commute to and from Southern California through the sky, as traffic becomes more congested on our highways.

The problem of financing highways is the largest question before the legislature.

Some sort of a compromise on the gas tax increase, bond issues and other measures may be expected. Senator A. Burlingame Johnson, administration leader in the upper house, is working to that end, although it is difficult to make Southern Californians believe they are not militated against by division of the funds with the greatest traffic in the south and the greatest expanse of territory in the north.

A compromise may be expected, if anything results, in the reapportionment issue. Senators and assemblymen are working to bring out of committee some sort of a constitutional amendment which will give justice to the metropolitan areas as well as protect the farm districts.

Once again, the expansiveness of California is a problem which cannot be overcome except by a comprehensive and liberal attitude. The inscription on one of the new administration buildings in the capital city, is "Give us men to match our mountains."

Verily, it is the crying need. A railroad 120 miles long is to be built by the government of Latvia.

LA CRESCENTA

LA CRESCENTA, March 18.—

The literary section of the La Crescenta Woman's club met yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Mark S. Collins, where the curator of the section, Mrs. Charles Collins, conducted the meeting. Papers on the history of California from the time of the founding of the Missions to its Americanization were read and discussed. Mrs. H. W. Newton read a detailed account of the secularization of the Missions taken from John Steven MacGraw's history of California. Mrs. Horace Carpenter took "The Raising of Bear Flag" as her topic. Mrs. Mary B. Darrow read from John Steven MacGraw's history of California on the conquest of California. Mrs. C. F. MacDowell read "The Fool's Prayer" by Sills, California poet. After the study hour tea was served by Mrs. Collins. Mrs. Charles Collins poured tea. Small cakes in the shape and color of the shamrock were served in honor of St. Patrick, the bonbons also carrying out the color scheme. At the next meeting of the section the Pony Express, Santa Fe Trail and the gold rush will be discussed. Those present were Mesdames W. H. Newton, A. B. MacDowell, Horace Carpenter, Mrs. Virna Walker of La Crescenta, Mrs. E. Havener of Gordon, Neb., Mrs. C. F. MacDowell of Long Beach, Mrs. F. M. Preble of Ludlow, Vt., and Mrs. G. Harrison of Framingham, Mass., and Mrs. Charles and Mrs. Mark S. Collins.

La Crescenta Valley celebrated St. Patrick's day with appropriate ceremonies last night when the Angeles Forest Protection association gave one of the most successful dances of the season. The school auditorium where the affair was held was decorated with streamers of green and white. The refreshment table was gaily decorated in green with shamrocks sprinkled over the covers, punch, coffee, pie and cake were served. Splendid music was furnished by the Verdugo Hills orchestra.

ANNUAL RODEO IN AIR IS NOW SPONSORED

Local Chamber Votes To Get Back of Glendale's
Aviation Efforts

Directors of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce voted unanimously last night to sponsor the Glendale air rodeo and commercial aviation meet as an annual event. This action followed a report on the first air meet held last Saturday and Sunday at the Glendale airport under the general direction of Dr. T. C. Young.

"A carnival of aviation such as we have just staged, held annually, will bring recognition from all parts of the United States and the rest of the world, and can make Glendale the flying center of western America, industrially, commercially and scientifically," Dr. Young told the directors.

The board drafted a resolution of appreciation, thanking Dr. Young and members of his committee for their splendid work. The resolution also contains a paragraph expressing appreciation to publicity agencies, including Glendale and Los Angeles newspapers for their assistance in popularizing the meet.

Official Terminus
Dr. Young told the directors of further plans to have Glendale designated as the official terminus for a transcontinental air route now being mapped. The route is assured, he said, with Glendale and the Glendale airport as an important link.

Communications from chambers of commerce all over the southwest, seeking to co-operate with Glendale in the establishment of a permanent aeronautical association, continue to pour into the Chamber of Commerce here, Secretary Howard I. Wood said. He announced that full co-operation of the Los Angeles park commission, the body that has jurisdiction over the new Griffith park municipal flying field, has been promised to Glendale by Van H. Griffith, president of that body.

New Religion Is Organized For Glendale

A new church organization for Glendale was announced today by Rev. D. J. Swalestuen, formerly of Jasper, Minn. Rev. Swalestuen will attempt to establish a Scandinavian Evangelical Lutheran congregation and will hold services every Sunday morning at 333 North Brand boulevard.

More than 100 Scandinavian families now living in Glendale are members of the Evangelical Lutheran church, Rev. Swalestuen said. With the establishment of a congregation here many more will come to Glendale to live, he says.

Playground Directors Urged By Park Body

The Park board voted this morning to recommend to the City Council that seven city playground directors be employed to supervise municipal playground work this summer at the various schools. It was reported that the tennis courts at Patterson Avenue park, recently completed under direction of the board, are meeting with much favor. Drinking fountains are to be installed at the park for the convenience of the public, it was voted. The meeting was presided over by L. H. Wilson, chairman. In addition to the members of the board, there were present Sam Warren, park superintendent, and R. Ernest Tucker, superintendent of municipal recreation.

Hardware Firm Gives Policy For Business

The Glendale Hardware Co. of 601 East Broadway, authorized Glendale agency for Maytag washing machines, doesn't simply talk "Trade at Home to Glendale" people, but try to secure patronage on merit alone. At great expense they have put in a tremendous stock of Maytag washers, and stand ready to demonstrate that they can give the greatest value in washers for the money—or they don't expect to make a sale.

The policy of this large Glendale store is to secure business by giving their patrons as much or more for the money as can be secured elsewhere.

B. L. GATES DIES IN SAN ANTONIO

President Of New England
Furniture Co. Stores Is Stricken On Trip

B. L. Gates, aged 53 years, president of the New England Furniture Co. chain of stores, which has a Glendale branch at 231 South Brand boulevard, died Friday night, March 13, 1925, at San Antonio, Tex., en route back to Los Angeles from a business trip into Mexico with a delegation from the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce. The body has been taken to Seattle, Wash., his former home, for burial.

The deceased is survived by his widow, by a son B. L. Gates, Jr., and by a married daughter. He was known to his associates as a man of great business ability and unbounded energy. Two years ago he founded the New England Furniture Co. chain, of which he was general manager as well as president. The company had grown rapidly, due to his active management of its affairs, and additional units were rapidly being added.

B. L. Gates was also president of Merchants' National Finance Co. of Los Angeles and had additional large interests in mercantile lines. A successor will be selected to head the New England Furniture Co. and the business will continue along the lines laid down by its founder, according to E. D. Giltner, manager of the Glendale branch, who adds that the local store will in no way be affected by the death of Mr. Gates.

Chamber Endorses Art Center For Glendale

Arthur Campbell, George J. Lyons and Fred Deal will constitute a Chamber of Commerce committee that will co-operate with the Glendale Art association in securing a building site for an art and drama temple in Glendale. Malcomb C. MacLennan, Mrs. Roy A. Ballagh and Mrs. Alex Mitchell appeared before the directors of the Chamber of Commerce last night and told of plans for the proposed art temple. A suitable building site which they will expect some public-spirited citizen or group of citizens to donate is being sought, Mr. MacLennan said. He asked that the chamber co-operate.

CHAMBER TO URGE DOUBLE INCREASE

Forum Banquet, April 16 To Usher In Campaign For Membership

A membership campaign to increase the roster of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce to twice its present size, will be ushered in at the next forum dinner of the chamber to be held on the night of April 16 under the auspices of the Glendale Kiwanis club. One of the largest attendances to date is expected when the Kiwanians stage their party and Dr. T. C. Young, chairman of the membership committee and a prominent member of the club, will take the opportunity to launch his membership drive at that time. The actual dates of the drive will include April 20 to 25. A large committee of 75 will have details of the drive in hand. Each present member of the chamber will be expected to get a new member.

Twelve Applicants
Twelve applications for membership were accepted by the chamber directors at their meeting last night. Those admitted were Trump Printing Co., Harry T. Currier, A. G. Rehtmeyer, W. L. Morrow, Sharps Lunch room, and seven members of the Tropico Motories Inc. Charles Murphy, A. C. Cole, T. A. Ortman, Lee A. Phillips, E. A. Jones, C. R. Smurr and C. R. Parker.

Secretary Howard I. Wood announced at the meeting that the attendance record established by the board of directors of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce ranks first in the state. This was brought out in a recent survey, he said.

L. A. Man Held For Bad Check Passing In City

R. O. Weaver of Los Angeles, charged with issuing a bad check in payment for a car purchased in Glendale, was bound over to the Los Angeles superior court by Judge Frank H. Lowe of the Glendale police court, yesterday afternoon, when he appeared for preliminary hearing. He was taken to the county jail, where he is held in $2,000 bail.

Otto L. Sanford of Los Angeles, arrested February 27 on a warrant charging possession and transportation of intoxicating liquor, was found guilty on both counts yesterday afternoon by Judge Lowe. He will receive sentence this afternoon.

Glendale Files Over 600 Incomes Monday

Over 600 income tax returns were filed in Glendale on Monday, the last day of the filing period, it was announced today by Rex B. Goodcell, collector of internal revenue. This is the greatest number of returns ever filed in one day in Glendale, in the history of the internal revenue bureau. In other years one deputy collector was deemed sufficient to care for the returns of local taxpayers, but this year Mr. Goodcell, recognizing Glendale's rapid growth, assigned two deputies to look after the business. These deputies were Allen O. Martin and George M. Donovan, the former at one time chief of police of Glendale.

"I was not wrong in my survey of Glendale," said Mr. Goodcell, "for the two deputies had more than they could handle, and the office had to be kept open until midnight Monday to handle the last minute rush. The number of returns filed from Glendale this year has exceeded all expectations. Glendale is becoming recognized in Washington, D. C., as an important producer of internal revenue."

Greater Luncheon Club To Hear Fire Report

WIDENING OF CENTRAL IS DEBATED

Plan To Make Section North
Of Lexington Conform
Is Opposed

Whether owners of property on Central avenue north of Lexington drive want their street widened and repaved and ornamental lighting standards installed, to conform with improvements already made or contemplated along other sections of the thoroughfare, will be determined before any further action in that regard is taken by the Central Avenue Improvement association. Members of the association met last night at the office of O. M. Newby at 109 South Central avenue, to determine the attitude of property owners on the further improvement of the street, and the zoning of the entire thoroughfare for business.

Heated discussion marked the session, at which a large number of interested owners of property were present. Residents of that portion of Central avenue north of Lexington drive and most directly affected by any further action to widen the street, were in the majority, voicing their opposition to any move to proceed with actual widening work at the present time.

Plan Explained

It was pointed out by proponents of a wider street that commencement of condemnation proceedings at this time does not mean that the widening must be done immediately or within any stipulated length of time. In the event that the street is zoned for business, however, it will be necessary that proceedings to condemn be started in order to maintain the ten-foot setback line that will eventually be necessary, it was stated.

Many property owners objected to tearing up the sidewalks or removing trees from North Central avenue now. This formed the basis for their opposition. Advocates of immediate condemnation proceedings assured them that this would not necessarily be the case.

As a result of the discussion last night a committee headed by H. C. Vandewater will canvass the section of the street north of Lexington drive and will endeavor to determine on the attitude of property owners and report back to the improvement association.

Widening Opposed

Henry Van Pelt, property owner on the north, held out against any attempt to widen the street, even after long explanations had been given. He opposed the widening of the street, the tearing up of shade trees and the changing of the setback ordinance. He advocated zoning the street for business only as business conditions actually warrant it.

"The time has not yet arrived to zone this in the commercial business section, as we have too much in that class already. And to widen before zoning it in that class is a dangerous thing to do, as it only makes values in the air and the properties will not sell, as a sensible investor will not bite at such values," Mr. Van Pelt said.

Others who spoke at the meeting included Nathan Rigdon, H. P. Siberell, O. M. Newby, George H. Seal, N. Cronin, J. H. Sherman, H. C. Bear, who acted as temporary secretary; Charles B. Guthrie, who presided, and W. S. Bear.

Sixty secretaries of Chambers of Commerce and other civic organizations over the southwest will be sent marked copies of Monday's Evening News with two pages devoted to pictures and reading matter on the great air meet. Secretary Howard I. Wood of the local chamber announced.

Miss Kern's Candidacy Endorsed By Attorney

Dwight W. Stephenson, prominent attorney and former president of what was then the Glendale board of trustees, has added his endorsement to the candidacy of Miss Ruth W. Kern for city treasurer at the election of April 14, stating, in a letter addressed to her:

"From my knowledge of your splendid work as chief deputy in the office of the city treasurer of Glendale, gained through several years' service on the City Council of Glendale, I most heartily endorse your candidacy for the office of city treasurer and feel sure that if the citizens of Glendale see fit to give you this well-earned promotion which you seek, you will bring to that office a knowledge of the affairs thereof that no other person could bring."

Dr. J. E. Eckles, former Glendale city health officer, has also endorsed the candidacy of Miss Kern, stating:

"I am well acquainted with Miss Kern and consider her in every way qualified to hold the office of city treasurer."

Miss Kern has held the position of deputy city treasurer since 1921, under J. C. Salyer, city treasurer, who retires to private life at the expiration of his present term.

Lions' Den May Take Charge of Boy Scouts

Following an address by Harvey Cheesman, Boy Scout executive, at today's luncheon meeting of the local den of Lions, it is probable that the den will sponsor a Boy Scout troop. Several of the members of the Lions' organization volunteered to take training in Boy Scout work at a gathering to be held soon in Glendale. It is proposed that the local den of Lions assume full charge of the Boy Scout troop at the Acacia school.

Considerable routine business was transacted at the meeting today. It is probable that the local den will enter into a nation-wide Lions' membership contest.

The meeting was held at Cane's Spaghetti Station No. 1, 1524 East Colorado, and was presided over by President W. B. Kelly. Ray L. Morrow, city attorney, and Sam Davis, city councilman, were among the guests. City Attorney Morrow answered questions relative to the powers of a committee on assessments and taxation.

BURBANK GETS LOCAL HELP FOR SITE

Democrat Leader In Frisco,
And Republican Leader
To Boost College

W. E. Evans, Republican leader in the Ninth congressional district, and Mattison B. Jones, one of the foremost Democrats in California, will arrive in San Francisco tonight or tomorrow morning to strengthen the cause of Burbank in the city's offer of a site for the new state university, southern branch. Mr. Evans and Mr. Jones will represent the city of Glendale and will make the trip north at the request of the Glendale university committee.

This information was given out by George J. Lyons, chairman of the committee, at the meeting of Chamber of Commerce directors last night. Following Mr. Lyons' report, the chamber voted to continue its support of Burbank in the latter's fight for the university.

May Hire Lawyers
In addition to Mr. Evans and Mr. Jones it is possible the Glendale interests will engage Isadore B. Dockweiler, Los Angeles attorney, to press the suit of Burbank also, Mr. Lyons said.

John Steven McGroarty will support the Burbank site also, it was announced following a conference between himself and members of the Glendale committee yesterday. Mr. McGroarty told the Glendale representatives that he had already openly advocated the Pasadena site, as it is near to his San Gabriel holdings, but that he would be willing to do all in his power to impress the advantages of the Burbank location on members of the board of regents, whom he numbers as friends and acquaintances.

Donate Services
Mr. Evans and Mr. Jones, who will use their influence to effect a selection of the Burbank site, will give their services without charge, Mr. Lyons announced. They made their offer at a meeting of the Glendale committee, held Monday night, and prepared to leave Glendale for San Francisco, where the regents will meet on March 21.

Members of the Glendale committee now working for the university are: George J. Lyons, chairman; Mattison B. Jones, A. L. Ferguson, Albert D. Pearce, J. W. Everington, Mayor Spencer J. Robinson, George B. Kerr, W. H. Evans, J. R. Grey, D. H. Smith, George U. Moyses, Daniel Campbell, Oliver O. Clark and Richardson D. White.

REDUCING WASTE

Ray M. Hudson, chief of the simplified practice division, United States Bureau of Standards—in other words, the government's head waste eliminator—says the menace of waste is greater than the menace of Bolshevism or any of the other hogs with which we have been threatened. A report made by eighteen of the leading industrial engineers of the country to Secretary of Commerce Hoover states that in six major industries the waste of material, time and effort averages 50 per cent. This waste menace levies a tax on each one of us in the form of costs of articles in every-day use, costs boosted by wastage and passed on to us by the manufacturers and distributors.

One of the methods now being used in an effort to curb this huge loss is simplification. This means the study of an industry, of the variety of goods it offers and of the demand for the items. Mr. Hudson explains the plan as follows:

"To illustrate how the system has worked, take the case of a man building a home. Where there were formerly thirty-nine variations in the size of face brick and forty-four sizes of common brick there is now but one size of each. Hollow building tile was formerly made in thirty-nine sizes. Now it is made in nineteen. Metal lath was formerly sold in 125 sizes. Now there are only twenty-four. The variety of items of yard lumber has been reduced sixty per cent, and the home-builder now knows for the first time how thick a standard board is. These reductions are of immediate influence on the work of the architect and the contractor as well as the building material dealer. These examples are but a few of the many.

"More and more of the firms which have had a part in this form of waste reduction are emphasizing it in their advertising. And as the movement goes on it will become more and more apparent to the consumer that he can help to make his own burden lighter by using his purchasing power to endorse goods which have been simplified. When he does that a great part of the waste tax will be removed—and the waste menace will be stopped in its tracks."

ZINOVIEFF TOO TALKATIVE

It develops that Gregory Zinovieff is to follow Leon Trotsky into oblivion, although there are some who think the rumor was manufactured to smooth the way for Senator Borah in his demand that the United States recognize the Soviet government of Russia. At any rate, Zinovieff has made himself obnoxious to his fellow Bolsheviks by talking too much. Communist efforts in countries outside of Russia would have flourished more vigorously if Zinovieff had not been so blatant, for he engendered suspicion which resulted in defensive measures being undertaken against the Bolsheviks. And some countries did not take kindly to his assertion that Russia would finally "conquer God in his empyrean," although he cautioned less haste in doing away with religion.

But the elimination of Trotsky and Zinovieff does not change the color of Russia. A much greater innovation is needed if Russia meets the conditions laid down by President Coolidge in order to merit recognition by the United States government.

Along this line the Detroit Free Press says, "Both Moscow and Mr. Borah are, we believe, going to be disappointed if they presume that the side-tracking of a Trotsky or a Zinovieff will, of itself, remove the last obstacle to recognition. The sacrifice of two such idols is insignificant compared with the prize sought. In reality the red serpent remains the same old venomous beast, no matter how cleverly portions of its skin may be daubed a mild crimson. Meanwhile, for all we care, Comrades Krassin and Karahan, Joffe and Rakovsky may worry along with the uncomfortable, bean-spilling Zinovieff. He keeps people awake, and most people prefer to meet awake rather than asleep whatever danger may be brewing for them."

MOST BEAUTIFUL CITIES

A correspondent to the San Bernardino Sun declares it would be impossible for him to select the two most beautiful women in the country, but he has no hesitancy in naming the two most beautiful cities in America—Denver, Colorado, and San Bernardino, California. It might be presumed that this man had visited every city in the United States, since he sets himself up as a judge of them all, but, on the other hand, it is evident that he has never visited Glendale, or he would have included our city among the prize-winners, since we have all of the qualifications which, for him, distinguish Denver and San Bernardino.

Telling why he chooses these two cities as the most beautiful, he says: "I have to class these as the twin cities because you both have the mountains overlooking you that cannot be duplicated on earth. You have the beautiful homes and the locations for them. You have the cleanest and most sanitary conditions of any city in the land. Above all, you have the most friendly and sociable people of any city in the land. This applies to the women in their homes, the men in business, the men on the streets, the men and women on the farms and ranches—and the man at the jail. They all make a stranger feel at home. You treat the tourist as a visitor and a guest, rather than as an easterner or tourist. One does not see the human vultures stationed on the curbs to grab the visitor before he reaches his hotel. You have the climate and also what the good people ought to be proud of—a clean press."

PUBLIC OPINION POWERFUL

One of the most potent forces in the war against evil-doers is public opinion. Someone relates that at a certain school for boys which is self-governing there is a dreadful form of punishment prescribed for the incorrigible. If a boy misbehaves seriously time after time, scornful punishment and authority, he is compelled to stand on a platform out in the yard in view of the entire student body. The other boys go back and forth to their work and play, regarding him silently, as if he were some strange creature.

Grown-up society complains of lack of respect for law, and one reason for this is that the powerful force of public opinion is not used against wrongdoers in the effort to enforce law. When the grown-up lawbreaker is compelled to face the silent, accusing stare of public opinion there won't be so many of him.

THE WRONG BUTTON!

A Crusade to Banish Sleep

By DR. FRANK CRANE

Some time ago a congress of Futurists was held at Milan, Italy.

According to a newspaper account a prominent Italian representative declared the quintessence of futurism to be movement and life. Real progress, he said, must fight against everything which constitutes rest. He further declared that a sleepless life is the only really joyful one.

All my life I have heard the story of the man who valued his life so much he wouldn't waste any of it in sleep and so lost it entirely.

He was always held up to be as the prime idiot, spelled with a capital I.

But no matter how wild or impossible an idea is, along comes someone without the saving grace of a sense of humor and seriously advocates it!

So now we have a crusade to banish sleep.

Sleep is a law of nature passed a long, long time ago.

Not only are we so constituted as to need sleep, but we need enough of it.

As Maude Roydon, that dynamic Englishwoman, says, a man who jumps off a cliff does not break the law of gravitation; he only demonstrates it. Thousands who think they are breaking the law of sleep are only demonstrating it!

The man who keeps giving his body less and less sleep will find himself in the position of the man who tried to train his horse to live on nothing by gradually cutting down on the daily ration.

He had only one more day to go before the horse would be living on nothing when something happened that upset his plans. The horse died.

Henry Ford says a car doesn't wear out until a part wears out. Neither does a man wear out until a part wears out. In this day of drive and hurry and rush the part that wears out first is usually the nerves.

Sleep is more necessary to the nerves than to any other part of the body. It fills the batteries for the next day's pull.

A president of the United States once said that he took a step involving the whole country, which he probably would not have taken under other conditions, because he was wrought up and made nervously tense by loss of sleep.

How many times have big business deals been lost because a man was "on edge" from loss of sleep?

There are few things that will make a man "touchy," quick-tempered, ugly and hard-to-get-along-with, as soon as not getting enough sleep.

Lack of sleep does to your body what putting carbon in the cylinders and soot in the spark plugs does to a motor car.

When you feel yourself missing, give nature a chance. Start getting more sleep.

The Best of Advice

By CLARK KINNAIRD

"We live in a very low state of the world, and pay unwilling tribute to governments founded on force."

This is as true today as when Emerson wrote it.

There is not, among the most religious and instructed men of the most religious and civil nations, a reliance on moral sentiment, and a sufficient belief in the unity of things, to persuade them that society can be maintained without artificial restraints, as well as the solar system; or that the private citizen might be reasonable, and a good neighbor, without the hint of a jail or of a confiscation.

And the tendency of the times is all toward more artificial restraints.

It appeared strange to Emerson that there never was in any man sufficient faith in the power of rectitude to inspire him with the broad design of renovating the state on the principle of right and love.

"All those who have pretended this design have been partial reformers, and have admitted in some manner the supremacy of the bad state."

"I do not call to mind a single human being who has steadily denied the authority of the laws, on the simple ground of his own moral nature."

"Such designs, full of genius and full of fate as they are, are not entertained, except avowedly as air-pictures."

"If the individual who exhibits them dares to think them practicable, he disgusts scholars and churchmen; and men of talent, and women of superior sentiment, cannot hide their contempt."

"Not less does nature fill the heart of youth with suggestions of this enthusiasm and there are now men to whom no weight of adverse experience will make it for a moment appear impossible that thousands of human beings might entertain toward each other the grandest and simplest sentiments, as well as a knot of friends, or a pair of lovers."

Who's Who

A strange combination of aristocracy and democracy is Nicholas Longworth. Born with a golden spoon in his mouth, the son-in-law of one of America's greatest presidents, he has overcome these "handicaps." He is now definitely his own man, and is expected to be a power as speaker of the House of Representatives.

Born in Cincinnati in 1869, he was educated at Harvard and in Cincinnati Law school, admitted to the bar in 1894, and began his political career four years later as member of the Cincinnati board of education. In 1899 he went to the Ohio House of Representatives and two years later became member of the state Senate. Then, in 1903, he was elected to the House of Representatives, of which he has been a member since, except for two years, from 1913 to 1915.

This one defeat can be blamed on the fact that he was a son-in-law of Theodore Roosevelt. In the campaign of 1912 Longworth ran on the Republican ticket. Taft, native Ohioan, was the regular G. O. P. nominee and Roosevelt the Progressive candidate, and the present speaker lost the votes of Taft Republicans because he was Teddy's son-in-law, and of the Roosevelt followers because he was a regular Republican.

The marriage of Alice Roosevelt, "Princess Alice," and Mr. Longworth was the event of the social season of 1904. He was making place in the White House in the presence of the diplomatic corps and as many of the "Four Hundred" as could get in. Their first child, a girl, was born recently.

Longworth has been prominent in national politics since he first entered the House. In 1923 he became floor leader for the Republicans in the House, and was the natural choice for speaker when Mr. Gillett advanced to the Senate.

Possessed of a keen sense of humor, with a willingness to joke about his shiny bald pate or to "fiddle for the gang" if someone brings out a violin, or on formal occasions, to do the honors at an international affair where the ambassador arrives in state with their plumed hats and beards, shirt fronts, this many-sided man from Ohio has proved himself adaptable to any atmosphere.

Award Yourself First Prize

Of all the prizes life has to offer, what brings half so much happiness as a real home—a home whose grace and charm, comfort and safety, will endure down through the years? When planning to build, plan also to award yourself a first prize.

This you can be sure of, if you insist on concrete masonry units—concrete block or concrete building tile.

Such construction is fire-safe, permanent. Finished with Portland Cement Stucco, it makes certain a beauty that will last. Yet it costs little if any more than less durable construction.

And consider the savings you will effect on painting, repairing and depreciation. Think also of how much cooler your home will be in summer, and of how easily it can be warmed in winter.

You will be especially interested in our practical building service. Full information about this service, and a copy of our illustrated booklet, "A Plain Talk on Beautiful Homes," will be sent promptly on request.

PORTLAND CEMENT ASSOCIATION

LOS ANGELES

OFFICES IN 29 CITIES

By Southland News Service.
LOS ANGELES, March 18.—Barbers may use a little extra tonic on hair today. The finance committee of the City Council has reduced the license tax barber shops must pay to do business in Los Angeles. The old fee of $8 for the first chair and $4 each for all the others was changed to $7 for the first and $2 for additional chairs. The tax, it was said, is levied to pay for inspection service by the city, and when barbers declared they had never seen one of the inspectors the fee was lowered.

Motorists who do not want to help pay for sixty-five new motorcycles had best watch their speedometer. The city yesterday agreed to a request by the motor cycle division to replace sixty-five machines now in use. The approximate cost will be $20,000.

Dr. Walter H. Dexter, president of Whittier college, will address more than 250 Hollywood bowl workers and representatives from Glendale, Pasadena and virtually every community in Southern California at a dinner at the Hollywood Woman's club Saturday night. Alice Gentle, who will sing at the Sunrise Easter services, will speak. The dinner will be the final meeting of the workers prior to a drive for the sale of 10,000 season ticket books next Monday.

The City Council and members of the board of public utilities are considering the matter of purchasing a privately owned dump at Twenty-fifth street and the Los Angeles river, so that the city can rid the property of rats. It is asserted that thousands of rats now live among the refuse thrown on the dump. If the city takes over the property it can erect an incinerator to burn the rubbish.

'FLU' OPINION

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., March 18.—Influenza, which during the war took a toll of thousands of lives, is gradually losing out, and within the next five years it will have entirely disappeared, according to Dr. S. S. Sisson, president of the Sisson Clinic here.

"Good night," she said. "Don't forget my bracelet tomorrow."

Philippa's last injunction pursued Graham even into his dreams. The green stones of the lost bracelet haunted his slumbers. They came and went, came and went, gliding at him unwinkingly like green, evil eyes. His first waking thought was of them; his second of Evadne. Strive as he might to keep them apart, the two thoughts insisted on blending. The question which, yesterday, he had tried to evade, clamored loudly for hearing. Was Evadne accessory to her husband's murder, or was she not? His head and his heart argued the question hotly, and neither was convinced. "If she were that sort of a woman," contended his heart, "wouldn't I have shrunk from her instinctively, instead of—?" Then explain the bracelet," interrupted his head. That was just the trouble—he couldn't explain.

Evadne's possession of the bracelet, he was forced to admit, seemed to mark her unmistakably as the writer of the note whose unfortunate phrases, "he suspects" and "tonight must end it," haunted him. The bloodstain on her sleeve could be explained—she had told how she had bent over her husband and touched him. The many contradictions in her story, and her evident terror, might be accounted for by the fact that a woman is naturally frightened and bewildered in the presence of crime. But the bracelet! How account for that?

He gave up trying to answer the question at last and turned to his other problem—the mo. immediately pressing one: how to recover the bracelet? Philippa's plaintive cry that it would break her heart to lose it had so impressed him with its truth that his whole mind was set on restoring her treasure to her. Easy to say, but how? He saw no way out of the dilemma, he told himself in comic despair, until it were to turn burglar in earnest and steal the bracelet. Well—why not? He played with the idea while he dressed. Of course, it was absurd, but if he could make an excuse to slip away—say, while the servants were at dinner, leaving Evadne engaged with—say, Flint, well—what about it? He would have to watch his chance—it might be days—of course, it was nonsense, but his heart was going a beat quicker than usual.

He turned to his looking glass and surveyed himself critically. The reflected face was of the "ope of the past generation—clear cut, strong featured. The suggestion in it of Puritan austerity was softened by the intervention of an Irish great-grandmother who was reincarnated in his smile. He chuckled as he gazed. His respectable personage, with candid glance and locks which rivalled in smooth propriety the locks of a parson, was actually contemplating burglary! He laughed aloud at the incongruity. Impulsively he raised his brush and smote propriety lightly, as with a challenging glove. The effect was subtly rakish.

"Decidedly better," he approved. Another stroke. "Better yet." The dignified junior partner was being rapidly transformed into the sprightly and undignified clerk. A little more, an inconspicuous office boy might grin out at him—or the burglar!

"I'm afraid you were by way of being a horrible prig, my good John," he soliloquized, "but you seem to be getting bravely over it." He nodded approvingly to his new reflection in the glass.

THE GLENDALE

"The Heart Bandit," which opens today at the Glendale theatre, has a rollicking plot. The story concerns the regeneration of a girl crook who hides in the house of a lonely old lady and her son to escape arrest. The grande dame becomes ill, and the girl, who has been facetiously nicknamed "Angel Face Molly," begins to resemble the appellation. Molly takes charge of everything, and forgets all about the gang on New York's Bowery—said "Spiky" Malone, whom it was generally understood, she was some day to marry.

Viola Dana and Milton Sills have the leading roles in "The Heart Bandit." The cast includes Wallace MacDonald, Bertram Grady and DeWitt Jennings. Oscar Apfel directed. The story is by Fred Kennedy Myton.

Wednesday night also, there is a preview at the Glendale theatre, announces Manager William A. Howell. The name of the picture is "Black Cyclone" and it features Rex, the horse that made its name in the film "Rex, King of Wild Horses." The preview goes on at 8:30 o'clock and will be followed by another showing of "The Heart Bandit."

The vaudeville program offered Wednesday and Thursday at the Glendale theatre comprises Grant Gardner in "Direct From the Canary Islands," a fast backstage act, and in addition a return engagement of Coster and Hewlett, two singers who made a hit some time back at the Glendale theatre. Thursday night there will be a preview of Florence Vidor's new picture, "The Mirage."

UNCLE WIGGILY

UNCLE WIGGILY'S CRUTCH

Uncle Wiggily's rheumatism, crutch as most of you know, I think, was painted red, white and blue like a barber's pole. And one morning, after having eaten a good breakfast of broiled cabbage with lettuce sandwiches sprinkled down the middle of his maple sugar pancake, Uncle Wiggily started out from his hollow stump bungalow to go adventuring.

"I think I'll take my red, white and blue striped rheumatism crutch with me," he told Nurse Jane. She had known the crutch out of a cornstalk for him.

"But why do you take it?" asked the muskrat lady housekeeper. "You said, the other day, that your rheumatism was much better since you painted the parlor floor."

"Yes, my rheumatism doesn't pain me nearly so much," answered the bunny rabbit gentleman. "But at the same time, to mention a cross word puzzle. I think I had better take the crutch. It is a trifle damp and raw today and my rheumatism might come upon me unexpectedly like and sudden."

"Very well," agreed Nurse Jane, so the bunny gentleman took the crutch, say with its red, white and blue paint like a barber's pole. Away he hopped, over the fields, and through the woods looking for an adventure.

"Hello, Uncle Wiggily," called Billy Bushytail, the squirrel, when the rabbit had hopped a little way. "You had better be careful."

"Why so?" inquired the bunny. "Because, a little while ago I saw the old Bushy Bear come out of his den. I know how to do it."

"Bears always come out of their dens in March," laughed the bunny. "I guess he won't bother me," and on he hopped. But he had not gone much farther before he heard Jackie Bow Wow barking at him.

"Better be careful, Uncle Wiggily," said the doggie boy.

"Why so?" asked the rabbit.

"Because I saw the Bushy Bear outside his den a few minutes ago."

"Bears always come out of their dens in March," laughed the bunny. "I guess he won't bother me." Then, gaily swinging his red, white and blue striped rheumatism crutch, Uncle Wiggily hopped on faster than ever. But he hadn't gone much farther before, all of a sudden, Toodle Flattail, the beaver boy, whispered:

"Better be careful, Uncle Wiggily."

"Why so?" asked the bunny.

"Because," answered the beaver boy, "I saw the Bushy Bear come out of his den a little while ago. He was growling and saying how hungry he was for ears. And he said, after he had gone to the barber shop to get shaved, he was going to look for you."

"Oh, ho. So that's his game, is it?" cried Uncle Wiggily. "Going to the barber shop, is he? Well, I'll fix him."

Uncle Wiggily looked around until he saw a big hole in the side of the hill, and in front of the hill, up a little way, was a large rock.

"Now," said the bunny to himself, "if I could only get the Bear to go in the hole, I'd roll the rock down in front of it, close up the hole and the Bear couldn't get out. I know how to do it."

Uncle Wiggily stuck his red, white and blue crutch up in front of the hole. Then the bunny hid behind the bushes. Pretty soon alone came the Bear growling. "As soon as I get shaved, after my long winter sleep, I'll catch that Uncle Wiggily rabbit and nibble his ears. I wish I could find a barber shop. Hello. There's a barber's pole now. That must be a new shop. I'll go in and get shaved."

He saw Uncle Wiggily's red, white and blue striped crutch, and thinking it was a barber's pole, the Bear went inside the hole in the side of the hill. Then the bunny crept up, loosened some dirt around the big stone until it rolled down and closed the hole.

"Let me out. Let me out," howled the Bear. "This isn't a barber's shop. Let me out."

"No, no," laughed Uncle Wiggily. "You'll stay there until I get safely home." Then taking his rheumatism crutch, which had served him as well, the bunny hopped quickly to his bungalow. And it took the Bear a week to dig himself out.

But if the snowball doesn't hide in the gas stove, thinking it can stay there and see the skyrocket shoot the roman candle on the Fourth of July, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily winding the clock.

YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE ANSWERED

Leisure Necessary for School Teachers, Said

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., March 18.—Leisure is more imperative for school teachers than increased salaries. Professor Thomas H. Reed of the department of political science of the University of Michigan, said at the closing session of the annual assembly of the Michigan State Teachers' association.

"Teaching is an overworked profession," said Professor Reed. "The teachers teach five or six hours a day and spend their evenings looking over papers. How can they have the energy to keep abreast of the times?"

JAP MINISTER DIES

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

Romance Via Reduction
"Dear Doctor: Enclosed please find stamped, self-addressed envelope for which please send me pamphlet on the care of the scalp. I look so beautiful to myself and husband since I have ceased to be a fat woman—thanks to your good advice—that my husband is afraid of losing me; and I am afraid of his losing his hair! His hair is surely getting thin, although otherwise he is perfect. We have been married only 22 years, so later on he may develop other faults, but I am enjoying him now."
"Bless you for the good work you are doing for the multitude."
—Mrs. J.

The article on the scalp was sent, J. and I hope hubby's hair will cease falling out. I am glad to run your letter because it is nice for a change to have something in the newspapers about happily married couples. All we hear of in the newspapers, of course, is the other kind. I am glad I am contributing to the romance.

Idolized Salt
Mr. H.—You ask me if the iodizing of the drinking water at Rochester, N. Y., has had any effect in diminishing goiter. That city, in the February 7 issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association, is the answer to your question. As it is short, I will give it in its entirety:

"About two years ago, following a survey of Rochester's school children which disclosed 3,844 cases of goiter, the water supply of that city was treated with iodine. A survey, recently, by the same group of physicians, disclosed but 1,766 cases of goiter. The visible method of detecting goiter was employed. When there was no definite enlargement evident to the eye, the child was recorded as without a goiter. Health Bureau, an official publication of the city of Rochester, remarks that relief from goiter in this city is only one result of iodizing the water. There has been noted also an improvement in stature and mental growth in school children."

Simple goiter is due to a deficiency in iodine in the system. The deficiency may be due to a deficiency in the foods and waters or to a disturbance of the intestinal tract so the iodine is not properly absorbed.

McCarrison found, in his experimental work on animals, that there was a relation between free fats, iodine and the thyroid gland. When an excess of free fats was given in the diet, the iodine absorption was hindered. (By free fats we mean vegetable oils, animal fats and butter.)

Goiter is most apt to manifest itself during pregnancy and adolescence. In some of the states in the goiter belts, there is being manufactured an iodized salt. Our ordinary table salt is purified so that the ordinary amount of iodine is removed. In the iodized salt, that amount of iodine is replaced after purification.

(We have an article on the Thyroid Glands which goes into this more fully, if you are interested. You may have this by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request.)

Mr. A.—We have an article on tuberculosis that many of the following say they have found very helpful. A self-addressed, stamped envelope accompanying your request will place it in your hands. Tomorrow—Answers To Correspondents.

My Dear Followers:—When sending for material which we offer you please remember to enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope with your full name and address. The pamphlet on goiter which we are sending you is the only one for which you must enclose four cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate your sending me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible; if they are of general interest. Don't forget the s.a.s.e. you must enclose to send you the information I have offered.

Simple Sponge Cake: This cake, though baked like the butter cakes, is put together differently. Sift one cup of bread flour twice, then add one teaspoon of baking powder and a pinch of salt and sift again. Set this aside till needed. Begin mixing the cake by putting three eggs into a bowl and beating well (wholks and whites together) till light and foamy; add one cup of granulated sugar and one teaspoon of vanilla extract and beat again, then add four tablespoons of cold water, mix thoroughly, and, last, whip in the flour-baking powder mixture and continue beating till the batter is very fluffy. Bake.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman in care of the "Efficient Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question. My Hair Was Quite Gray

"My hair was gray. It was falling out. My scalp itched and dandruff appeared. A few applications of Kolor-Bak stopped the itching and dandruff. My hair soon stopped falling out and now is again its original shade. I look ten years younger." (A typical letter)

Don't Worry about Gray Hair

This Clean, Colorless Liquid Will Restore the Original Shade

Thousands of people have quickly banished grayness and have restored the original shade to their hair with the remarkable preparation known as Kolor-Bak.

Physicians and scientists know that gray hair is hair that has ceased to receive its normal supply of coloring matter or pigment from certain tiny cells in the scalp because these cells have become inactive. No matter what the cause, it is amazing to see how the grayness disappears when Kolor-Bak is used. It is the best known substitute for the natural pigmentation. It also banishes dandruff and stops itching of the scalp and falling hair. If you are gray, Kolor-Bak is all you need to make your hair look "young" again. No need to furnish a sample of your hair—no tests to make—as this one clean, colorless liquid is effective on any gray hair. Money back instantly if Kolor-Bak is not satisfactory.

POLITICAL ADVERTISEMENT.

Platform of John W. Usilton

As a candidate for the City Council, I ought to give to my fellow citizens the reasons prompting my candidacy. When I chose Glendale as my home nearly 20 years ago, Glendale then a struggling community of less than 1,000 inhabitants, has now reached a population well over 50,000, and will in the near future reach 100,000. During my residence here I have always taken a lively interest in the development of our city not only in regard to its expansion in population and wealth, but the development of our city government has ever had my special attention. When first incorporated as a municipality, Glendale operated under our state laws as a city of the sixth class and changed from that form of government to a city with a freeholders' charter, giving us the opportunity to run our municipality economically on business principles. Notwithstanding this fact our taxes have increased by leaps and bounds and no signs of relief. I believe that if the intent of our charter and its provisions are carried out, we can and will get relief and if I am elected, will use all my efforts to make the charter of Glendale what it ought to be—a basis for a true business administration. It provides for a city manager, with a council as its legislative body, the manager to be solely responsible for the efficient administration of the business affairs of our city and not to be interfered with by the council in such administration.

All sessions of the council should be open to the public, and if elected I will refuse to take part in any council meeting behind closed doors. I believe also that a city of the size of Glendale should have a civil service examination for all its employees and employ and advance them according to merit. Owing to the great dissatisfaction in the past to street improvements and especially street assessments, I believe that the offices of city engineer and street superintendent should be segregated and not held by one officer, thereby creating a check, one upon the other and bring about a more satisfactory condition. The railway crossings are very unsatisfactory and dangerous in Glendale and should receive the immediate attention of the city administration, for the safeguarding of the lives of our citizens. With the help of the street department the plots of land owned by the city should be beautified and where necessary comfort stations established. If elected I pledge myself to the realization of these adjustments and will be at the service of ALL of the citizens of Glendale ALL the time.

JOHN W. USILTON,

High Spots In Poison Murder

CHICAGO, March 18.—

Chronology of McClintock case:

April 3, 1903—William Nelson McClintock born.

June 7, 1909—Inherited McClintock fortune through death of father in automobile accident.

April 3, 1924—Became of age and a short time later signed will leaving bulk of estate to William D. Shepherd, his foster father.

November 23, 1924—Became ill.

December 5, 1924—Died, supposedly from typhoid fever.

December 9, 1924—Will bequeathing entire estate, except an $8,000 annuity to Isabelle Pope, McClintock's fiancée, to Shepherd, filed for probate.

December 17, 1924—Ten cousins announced they will attempt to break the will.

December 24, 1924—McClintock's body ordered exhumed for post-mortem examination at instigation of Judge Harry Olson, McClintock family friend.

March 3, 1925—Judge Olson flatly accuses Shepherd of murder in connection with McClintock's death and the inquiry is ordered postponed to March 24.

March 12, 1925—Dr. C. C. Faiman confesses Shepherd wrote him a letter inquiring about bacteriological courses in his national University of Science.

March 13, 1925—Dr. Faiman made supplementary confession declaring he gave Shepherd typhoid germs to administer to Billy McClintock and that he was to have received $100,000 for his part. Shepherd was taken into custody.

March 16—Case against Shepherd is presented to grand jury.

March 17—True bills charging Shepherd and Dr. Faiman with murder are voted by grand jury.

Shepherd And Doctor Indicted For Murder

after the formal indictments are returned. It is not expected the case will go to trial for at least two months.

Joseph Schlect, the long sought house man at the Shepherd home, who was replaced by Louis Kles, was another person who was to tell his story to the state's attorney today. He was found by Judge Olson's personal investigators and already has been questioned by Olson. It is on whom the state depends to furnish testimony regarding the mysterious crates, believed to have contained live guinea pigs for germ experimental purposes, which are said to have been delivered at the Shepherd home.

Halt Will Contest

The contest over the will of William Nelson McClintock was postponed until May 1 in probate court here today with the consent of a score of attorneys representing various interested parties. The postponement was largely a result of the murder indictment returned today against Shepherd, chief beneficiary of the will.

A new attorney, Carl H. Smith of Buffalo, N. Y., was present in court today. He represented Mrs. Luella Page Yokum of Buffalo, a first cousin of McClintock, and he took occasion to deny reports that Mrs. Yokum was not in accord with other relatives seeking to break the will.

The indictment contains twenty-one counts in which both Shepherd and Faiman were charged with murdering "one William Nelson McClintock." It occupied forty-four pages of double-spaced typewriting. The defendants' answers to the charges were to be given this afternoon at 2 o'clock, the time set for their first arraignment.

NEW YORK CLOSING

By S. COUSINS

For International News Service

NEW YORK, March 18.—Rallying tendencies were in evidence in the stock market today and most of the industrial stock leaders began the session with an improvement of from 2 to 5 points from Tuesday's close, which gains were extended to a maximum of 10 points before the end of the first hour. The market, however, received little support from the outside public.

Following announcement from Chicago that receivers had been appointed for the St. Paul railroad, the preferred stock, which had been steady around 14, dropped to 12, and the common stock from 8 to 7. The ten bonds sold at a new low level, about 3 points further down.

Bears continued to hammer weak spots in the market. American Woolen broke to 37 1/2, the lowest since 1918, when the stock was on a 5 per cent dividend basis. Texas-Pacific yielded to selling pressure.

Money market conditions were all in favor of the bulls. With the completion of tax payments and the release of funds through stock liquidations, offerings of call money were quite liberal and the rate declined to 3 per cent.

Pan-American stocks spurred on reports that the company had brought in a well in new territory in Mexico within 10,000 barrels a day. The stock gained 5 points at 77 1/2, but its market action failed to stimulate activity in the balance of the oil list. Outside of short covering there was little demand for the oils, which have had no sustained rise since the early part of 1924.

The leading steel, motor and equipment stocks sold higher, but trading was in small volume and outside demand negligible. St. Paul stocks continued to sink as the session advanced and great interest centered around these stocks.

Stock sales, 2,323,800 shares; bonds, $14,113,000.

NEED OF DAM IS TOLD BY SPEAKER

Plans Are Outlined at Realty Luncheon Today by Burdette Moody

Necessity of a dam in Boulder canyon 600 feet high, if Southern California is to continue its march of progress, was stressed in an address by Burdette Moody, secretary of the Boulder Dam association, before the Glendale Realty board today noon. The association comprises leading organizations of every municipality of the southwest, Mr. Moody said. He denounced any substitutes for the Swing-Johnson bill or any modifications in the plans for a 600-foot dam, such as provided in that document.

A special committee to arrange plans for the Realty board's annual dinner was appointed by President William L. Twining, who presided at the meeting today. It will consist of J. M. Rhoades, E. P. Hayward and A. H. Voelker. Mr. Hayward, O. M. Newby, Elwood Ingledue and Mayor Spencer Robinson spoke in behalf of the movement to organize a Southwest Aeronautical association, the result of the meeting of Chamber of Commerce representatives and airmen here Saturday night. Resolutions of appreciation to Dr. T. C. Young, members of his air meet committee and to the City Council were passed by the Realty board.

'PHILIES' DEPEND UPON SHORTSTOP

Connie Mack Expects Team To Finish Near Top If Galloway Delivers

By JAVIS J. WALSH
FOR INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE.
PORT MYERS, Fla., March 18.—Show Connie Elongated Mack a shortstop who can roam beyond the confines of a thumb tack and he will show you a ball club that will run one-two-three in the American league race this season. That was the purport of a few well chosen remarks from Cornelius today. He intimated rather strongly that success or failure for the Philadelphia Athletics of 1925 rested almost entirely with Clarence Galloway, regarded by some as the cream of American league shortstops two years ago.

Last season the cream turned a bit sour. The young man in fact, fared so badly that many critics were pleased to look upon his earlier showing as a mere gesture with neither permanence nor definite meaning. Cornelius, of course, hopes for the best.

"Galloway looks good this spring," Mack declared today. "And I have come to regard his showing last year as one of those things that happen to all ball players. If he comes through I don't see how they can keep me out of third place at the very least. That is making what amounts to a prediction and, as a rule, I avoid doing this. However, I'll say this much: The team that wins the pennant will have to beat the Yankees."

"Lefty Groves is one of the greatest left handers I have looked at in years," Connie commented, in looking over his pitcher. "He has terrific speed and control. He will give me my first good pitching staff since the days of Bender, Plank and Coombs. The rest of the staff will be Rommel, Harris, Heimach, Grey, Meeker, Baumgartner and one or two others."

"Outside of Rommel my pitchers lacked steadiness in other years. I think experience has taught them to overcome this drawback."

Further reason for the Mackian air of satisfaction is said to have emanated from the fact that he has tendered the free and highly beneficial air to Ira Thomas, Danny Murphy and Harry Davis, his old board of strategy, and has replaced them by appointing his son, Earl, as field captain.

"This is an innovation, if nothing else. It furnishes the first example in major league history of a non-playing field captain. The young man never even played major league baseball, but Mack believes that harmony is to be preferred over master-minding without co-ordination. He seems to have attained his objective in this respect, for the Athletics give the impression of a highly satisfied group."

This is particularly true of Jimmy Dykes, who has been given the regular position at third base for the first time in several years. He should make good. If he doesn't, Sam Hale will be ready to step in. On the other side of Galloway will be Max Bishop, with Joe Hauser playing first base. Bob Hips of Furman university, who may or may not escape the nickname of "Snakes," also is making gestures around first, but "Bing" Miller is slated as Hauser's understudy, if any. Bing is the regular rightfielder.

The other two outfielders will be Simmons and Bill Lamar, with Frank Welsh in reserve. Bill Bagwell, up again from Galveston, and Walter French, former West Point football player, are around and about, but going nowhere.

JOHN B. FOSTER'S VIEWS

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.
NEW ORLEANS, March 18.—Lee Fohl has given up the idea of trying to win a pennant for the Boston Red Sox with a team of veterans and now he is injecting a lot of young blood into the club. "We tried to get by last season with the old fellows," said Fohl to the writer. "They went along about half way and then came the break down. They could not stand the hot pace they started. I don't believe any team of veterans can keep it up through a season with the keen competition there is in baseball these days. Five or six young men's major leagues by 1927, perhaps by 1926."

One of the likeliest youngsters Fohl boasts is Connolly, who was taken from Saginaw, Michigan. Connolly is listed as a second baseman, but he can play anything in the infield. He is a right hander, but he would not hesitate to put him in at first in an emergency. If Connolly continues to play as he has at New Orleans, Bill Wambagans will have one peach of a time getting back on 2nd, and Bill is still some good second baseman for all the years he has put in on the diamond.

Connolly played third in a game at New Orleans because Prothro happened to be out of sorts, and it is hard to tell whom he surprised the most—Prothro, Fohl, whose eyes bulged bigger and bigger as he watched, or the visitors who were looking at Connolly for the first time.

Connolly not only could hit, but he threw the ball to first like a shot after picking it up on divers and sundry difficult chances. He throws with as little effort as if he were waiting kisses to a pretty girl and he throws the easiest ball imaginable to catch.

He got grounders on both sides of him, in front of him, and back of him, and when he ran way out in left field to pull down a fly, the watchers vowed he wasn't human.

In the first game he played for Boston this spring, Connolly made three hits and stole the only base stolen. In the next game he batted .400 and stole another base.

When Boston got this kid he wrote that, although he had played third for Saginaw, he could if necessary, play shortstop or second. Bob Quinn nearly had nervous prostration when he read the letter, as the average rookie does not aspire to play any but the position in which he has spent most of his playing days.

Connolly's spring showing makes him appear as one of the nugget finds of the season. He is not a big boy, but he is a very compact young man, and everything about him suggests strength, speed and best of all, the inclination to forge ahead. He can't be kept quiet, or away from the ball.

The Sox infield this year will probably be practically all new before it is through. Fohl is sticking to his plan to put the kids to the front. Todd will go to first base. There's a player who has been threatening to get in, some way, for two years. He can play the outfield and has played there. But he can also play the infield and although Joe Harris played first for Boston in 1924, it does not look as if he will draw the assignment this year, unless some one is hurt.

If Connolly makes good—and there is reason to believe he will—Wambagans will be temporarily out of the deal. Cross, a kid once with the Giants, will go to short, and Prothro who did well last year, will be at third.

STOCKTON, March 18.—Frankhouse, Rheim, Hallahan, Paulson, Clough and Shields, the hurling roster occupied the attention today of Manager Riecke of the St. Louis Cardinals. Paulson and Shields will need another year in the minors, Frankhouse and Rheim have made the regular grade, Hallahan has a fair opportunity and Clough is doubtful, Riecke summarized.

LAWRENCE PERRY SAYS

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.
NEW YORK, March 18.—Walter Camp exemplified the whole-some outdoor American who carries from youth into advanced years the enthusiasm, the indomitable impulses and the love of a sport that most men forget as they grow older.

An outstanding athlete in various sports in his college days more than 45 years ago, he remained the athlete to the day of his death. His swinging figure, his bronzed face, white moustache and brilliant hazel eyes betokened the man who has practiced what he preached, who has kept himself fit and clean and altogether fine.

Thousands upon thousands in this country are the beneficiaries of his active propaganda for the benefit of middle-age through systematic exercise.

Loose thinking persons have remarked that in the manner of his death Mr. Camp's theories of exercise as a means of physical well-being have been confirmed. This is the veriest nonsense. Walter Camp's contribution to the good of human society will long stand as his greatest memorial.

His death from heart disease will, however, preach eloquently of the dangers of over-doing as man's or woman's years advance. Discretion in the employment of exercise, as with any other beneficial thing, is always a necessity.

Perhaps, too, the manner of the passing of this leader in sport may be traced back to his collegiate days when for a period of six years he figured in four or five strenuous competitive sports.

This was a time when the medical supervision of athletes and the scientific regulation of their participation in rugged sports such as football, were unheard of. In his time Mr. Camp was a splendid runner, an able baseball player, a good competitive swimmer, played tennis well and was one of the great football players of all time.

Football today is the game it is pretty much because of the thought and time and energy that Walter Camp devoted to it. He was well termed the father of the great autumn game. In his days when he was supreme in the Yale counsels the prestige of the game at this university was unchallenged.

In 1906 football was in a bad way and might have received a death blow had not Mr. Camp led the way to reforms which were remarkably beneficial to the game than to the Yale system which had grown up with the sport.

An interesting incident in Mr. Camp's first big-three football game played November 20, 1876, in Hoboken between Princeton and Yale was a forward pass he threw which resulted in a score. Being tackled he tossed the ball forward to Thompson. Princeton at once claimed foul and refused to try to stop the runner. The referee instead of deciding the question and got the touchdown. Did this some thirty years later account for Mr. Camp's kindliness for the forward pass?

He played in all six years for Yale, four as an under-graduate and two when he was a post-graduate in the medical school. He left medical school a year before graduation and entered business but his interest in Yale and Yale athletics and in sport generally never waned.

Tournament To Decide High School Champs

SALEM, Ore., March 18.—A tournament to decide the high school basketball championship of the Pacific coast appeared likely here today with the announcement that school champions of the various states had tentatively accepted dates of March 23, 24 and 25.

Rupert High school, winner of the Idaho State high school title, is the last of the champions to signify willingness to enter the tourney. Yakima High will represent Washington and Piedmont High of Oakland will represent California. The Oregon winner is Salem High school.

Armour, sword and banner said to be those of Joan of Arc were sold for $150 at a London auction recently.

SAILOR HUFFMAN WINS OVER TONY

Heavyweights Put Up Great Battle Before Jammed House At Vernon

Before the largest crowd that has jammed Jack Doyle's Vernon arena since the expansion, Tony Fuente and Eddie Huffman, heavyweights, battled ten rounds last night. The decision went to Huffman by reason of the sailor's lightning attack and clever footwork, hard punches and all around knowledge of the ring game. Fuente took a lot of punishment, but gave in return plenty of blows, and proved that he can fight.

Fans differ as to the rounds, some claiming that the sailor took nine, and Fuente only one, while others insist that the Mexican took four rounds, and Huffman three, but Huffman's near-knock-out in the tenth gave him the fight. The Mexican was in a bad way in the final stanza Huffman sending Fuente reeling twice with left hooks.

Lew Rollinger and Eddie Owens kept the ringworms on their toes during the semi-windup, when the pair stood up and slugged through eight rounds. Rollinger, the winner to the canvas in the third and again in the sixth, but the Wisconsin schoolboy bounced right back for more, and dealt out a few wicked ones himself. Owens won the decision.

Sailor Larry substituted for Harry Lee in the opening battle and won the decision over Jack Lee. It was a four round mill.

Ad Codina and Dutch Cozier socked each other for four rounds, getting the nod. Jack Ketchell lasted less than a round against Kid Mexico, a veteran of the four round game. Ketchell went down for a two count early in the round, and when he got up Kid Mexico handled him a right uppercut that spelled curtains for Jack.

SPORT CHATTER

By THE SPORTSMAN
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.
ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., March 18.—Though victorious in the Florida East Coast Women's Championship, Miss Glenna Collett is so dissatisfied with her short game that she plans to stay in Florida two weeks more to practice on it.

In spite of erratic work in this department the young Providence star was under $5 in every round except in the qualifying when she had an 86. Her long game was remarkably good in power and direction. Professionals and others who saw her in action the past week declare she can win abroad if she can improve her short game. Miss Collett will sail on the Corona April 11.

Immediately after her final match with Miss Hedfield in yesterday Miss Collett went out to the practice putting green with Wilfred Reid, the Detroit professional. She had had a number of three put greens during the week and she wanted to find out why she was having trouble to get the ball to roll. It was found that she had been hitting the ball near the top which would give it an over-spin and she was cutting her putts.

The milkmen played their usual strong game, rolling up 36 points, while the former service men were making half that number. The Legion men were assisted by McKowan and Schenck of the Radio team, when only three Legionnaires showed up for the game. Technically, the score of the game would be 2 to 0, the Legion forfeiting to the milkmen.

Talbert and Avery, forwards for the milkmen, shared honors in high point getting, each making 15 points. Randall, moved up to center position, added the other six points. Liggett, stellar forward of the service men, was off form last night, making only one basket and a free throw. McKowan was responsible for eight points. Bunker made six and Schenck got a free throw. The milkmen were leading at the half, 17 to 11. The lineups:

At Glendale

Scene from "The Heart Bandit" at the Glendale theatre. Viola Dana and Milton Sills are featured.

Viola Dana and Milton Sills, in "The Heart Bandit," opening today at the Glendale theatre, have lively roles. Miss Dana is seen as a girl crook who is regenerated by her love for a young man of wealth, played by Mr. Sills in his usual smooth manner.

Wallace MacDonald, hero of many productions, turns to a character part in "The Heart Bandit," and gives an outstanding performance as "Spike." He has several very amusing scenes, especially in the cafe episode.

Gertrude Claire is delightful as Mrs. Rand. Bertram Grassby makes an excellent and most thorough villain, while DeWitt Jennings is a natural-looking detective.

Tom J. Hopkins is credited with the adaptation and John Arnold with the photography. Oscar Apfel, who has held the megaphone in Miss Dana's last three pictures, has done a first-class job with the direction.

NEW SCIENTIFIC DISCOVERY IN GLANDOGEN

Many leading authorities and scientists have proved by actual tests, that the benefits of gland transplantation may be obtained by giving the patient gland substance to be taken internally, rather than by operation. Dr. Arnold Lorand says in his book, "Old Age Deferred," in speaking of the glands: "We must insist upon the re-inforcement of their functions, if changed by age or disease, by means of extracts obtained from the similar organs of healthy young animals." Glandogen, the new scientific gland tonic, which is prepared in convenient tablet form, for men and for women, provides a simple method of taking glandular treatment. Accept no substitutes. Insist on genuine Glandogen, the original gland tonic. Glandogen is obtainable at Ahlmann Drug Co., Brand at Harvard. Free booklets on request.—Advertisement.
